

Ford unleashes the next Mustang

With more power and a digital cockpit, the new Ford Mustang is also rolling into Europe this year. It can now be ordered at prices starting from 59,900 euros. The sports car is still also available as a convertible and has been given an even more angular design in the seventh model generation, without straying too far from its predecessor. The V8 engine has been further developed so that the Mustang GT now produces 446 hp (328 kW) and delivers up to 540 Newton meters of torque. The top-of-the-range "Dark Horse" model has another seven hp more. (aum)
