

Preview: Two particularly impressive cars

We will be presenting two particularly impressive cars next week. Our author Guido Borck has a special kind of encounter. He takes to the racetrack in the most powerful Porsche ever. The Taycan Turbo GT mobilizes up to 1108 hp and aims to set standards in terms of longitudinal and lateral dynamics. The Chinese BYD Group is also setting an exclamation mark with the Yangwang U8. With its four electric motors, the powerful luxury SUV is not only capable of driving, but also of swimming and turning on the spot.

With Xpeng, another Chinese brand is in the starting blocks in Germany. We talk to Markus Schrick, Managing Director, about the market orientation in an interview on Sunday. Skoda will be presenting the new Kodiaq in the coming weeks. After the Mito and a break of several years, Alfa Romeo is returning to the B-segment. The new model called Milano is also based on synergy effects from the large parent company. It will also be the first electric car from the traditional brand. The small SUV will be unveiled, how could it be otherwise, in Milan.

As usual, we will also keep you up to date with the latest news from the world of cars, motorcycles and other mobility. (aum)

Images for article

Photo: Autoren-Union Mobilität/Guido Borck

Photo: Autoren-Union Mobilität/BYD

Photo: Autoren-Union Mobilität/Skoda

Still camouflaged: Alfa Romeo Milano.

Photo: Autoren-Union Mobilität/Stellantis

Photo: Autoren-Union Mobilität/Xpeng
